

ASST. PROF. ALINA SORGNER

Dr. Alina Sorgner is Assistant Professor for Applied Data Analytics at the Department of Business Administration of John Cabot University in Rome, a Research Fellow at the Kiel Institute for the World Economy (IfW Kiel) and a Research Affiliate at the Institute for the Future of Work (IZA). Her research in the fields of digitalization, labor markets, gender, and entrepreneurship has been published in high-impact peer-reviewed journals and discussed in leading international newspapers such as the Süddeutsche Zeitung, Frankfurter Allgemeine, La Nación, and The Nevada Independent. She regularly collaborates with some of the world's foremost organizations (e.g. UNIDO, ILO, Women20 and Think20, the initiative groups within the G20) and gives invited keynote presentations on these and related topics. Personal website: www.sorgner.eu